

The basic Python <> Excel workflow

If you're just getting started with building reports and other analyses in Excel using Python, it can be confusing to see how all the steps and packages fit together. This document is meant to map the basic process.

For more resources like this, subscribe at stringfestanalytics.com.